

Miss Me But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road and the sun sets for me. I want no rites in a gloam-filled room, why cry for a soul set free. Miss me a Little but not too long, and not with your head bowed low. Remember the love that we all once shared, Miss Me but Let Me Go. For this is a journey that we all must take, and each must go alone. It's all a part of the Master's plan, a stop on the road to home. When you are lonely and sick at heart, go to the friends we know and bury your sorrows in doing good deeds.

In Loving Memory of a Patricia Session

Patricia Session was a loving and devoted daughter, sister, aunt, and friend whose life was marked by faith, compassion, and dedication to others. Though she did not have children of her own, she lovingly served as a mother figure to many, offering guidance, care, and encouragement to all who crossed her path.

'Trisha Ann', as she was affectionately known, was born on December 12, 1952, in Jacksonville, Florida, to Henry L. Session and Alma G. Dawson. Patricia was educated in the Duval County Public School System and graduated from Stanton Senior High School in 1971. After graduating, she became a teacher, sharing her passion for learning and helping shape the lives of young people.

Although Patricia later became disabled, her faith in God and her love for His people never wavered. She answered a higher calling by becoming a missionary, faithfully serving as a warrior for Christ and dedicating her life to spreading God's love.

Patricia was deeply family-oriented and cherished the relationships she shared with her loved ones. Her kindness, strength, and unwavering faith will forever remain in the hearts of those who knew and loved her.

Patricia was preceded in death by her parents; her sister, Ruby L. Pandy; her brothers, Verner L. Pandy, Jr.(Resia), Maxie J. Pandy, and Herman L. Session (Jannette); Sister-In-Law-Gwendolyn Rich and two beloved nephews, Malachi Pandy and Corey Pandy.

She leaves to cherish her memory her brothers, Jimmy L. Rich and Freddie L. Pandy (Robin), Sister-in-Laws: Jannette Session and Resia Pandy. Sisters-in-Love Diana Session and Sharon Wilson, along with a host of loving nieces and nephews, cousins, and many devoted family members and friends who will forever hold her in their hearts.
