

Do Not Weep For Me

*Do not weep for me, my dear,
I am still with you, always near.
You'll find me in the morning light,
And in the stars that shine at night.*

*I am the whisper in the breeze,
The quiet calm among the trees.
I am the warmth the sun will bring.
The gentle song the robin's sing.*

*Though my journey's reached its end,
My love lives on, my soul transcends.
So when you smile, please think of me-
I'm at peace, and I am free.*

JEAN'S LASTING LEGACY

Today, we gather with heavy hearts to honor the life and memory of our beloved father, husband, brother, cousin, and friend, Jean Claude Frazil.

Our father was born on May 23, 1962, in Les Cayes, Haiti, to Hermane Landiche and Mauricia Paul. He attended Sainte Famille des Cayes before, at the age of 18, leaving Haiti to settle in the United States.

Coming to a new country at such a young age marked the beginning of a new and challenging chapter in his life. Yet, our father worked hard and remained determined to build a life and a future for his family.

He worked tirelessly to support those he loved. From his time at the Ramada Hotel to his last employer, Palm Garden, he dedicated himself to working hard and providing for his family. His years of work represented not only his dedication, but also the sacrifices he made for the people who mattered most to him.

Our father was the loving husband of Renette Lubin, and together they built a family blessed with Marlah, Marlee and Ali.

To our brother, Billy, he was also a father and kept you present in all of our hearts.

He also leaves behind his brothers and sisters, Renold, Rose Marie, Betty, Serge, and Ginette, his cousins Gereste, Marie Josette, Jean-Marie Clarel, Yvon Emilcar, Marie Lucienne, Marcel, Claude Ludex, Carline, Marie Yvonne Denis, and Ketty and as well as his nephews and nieces Mikenson, Frantz, Nerline, Donald, Diarode, Yvena, Yves Wesle, Melissa, and Sebastien.

We also remember another part of who our father was: his love for sports. In his younger years, he played soccer and enjoyed the sport that brought him happiness and energy which was soccer. Those memories are part of the person we will continue to remember.
