

Remember Me

Remember me on quiet days

When tears from Heaven turn to rain.

But in your memories have no grief

Let just the joy we shared remain.

Remember me when evening stars

Look down on you with twinkling eyes;

Remember me when you awake

To see a golden bright sunrise.

Look for signs that I am close,

Like butterflies or the moon above.

Remember hugs and kisses, too,

Those special expressions of my love.

And when you stop and think of me,

Do not be sad, please do not cry;

But live for me and laugh for me,

For when you're happy, so am I.

Remember jokes and times we shared.

And as your time and life goes by,

Think of me with happy thoughts,

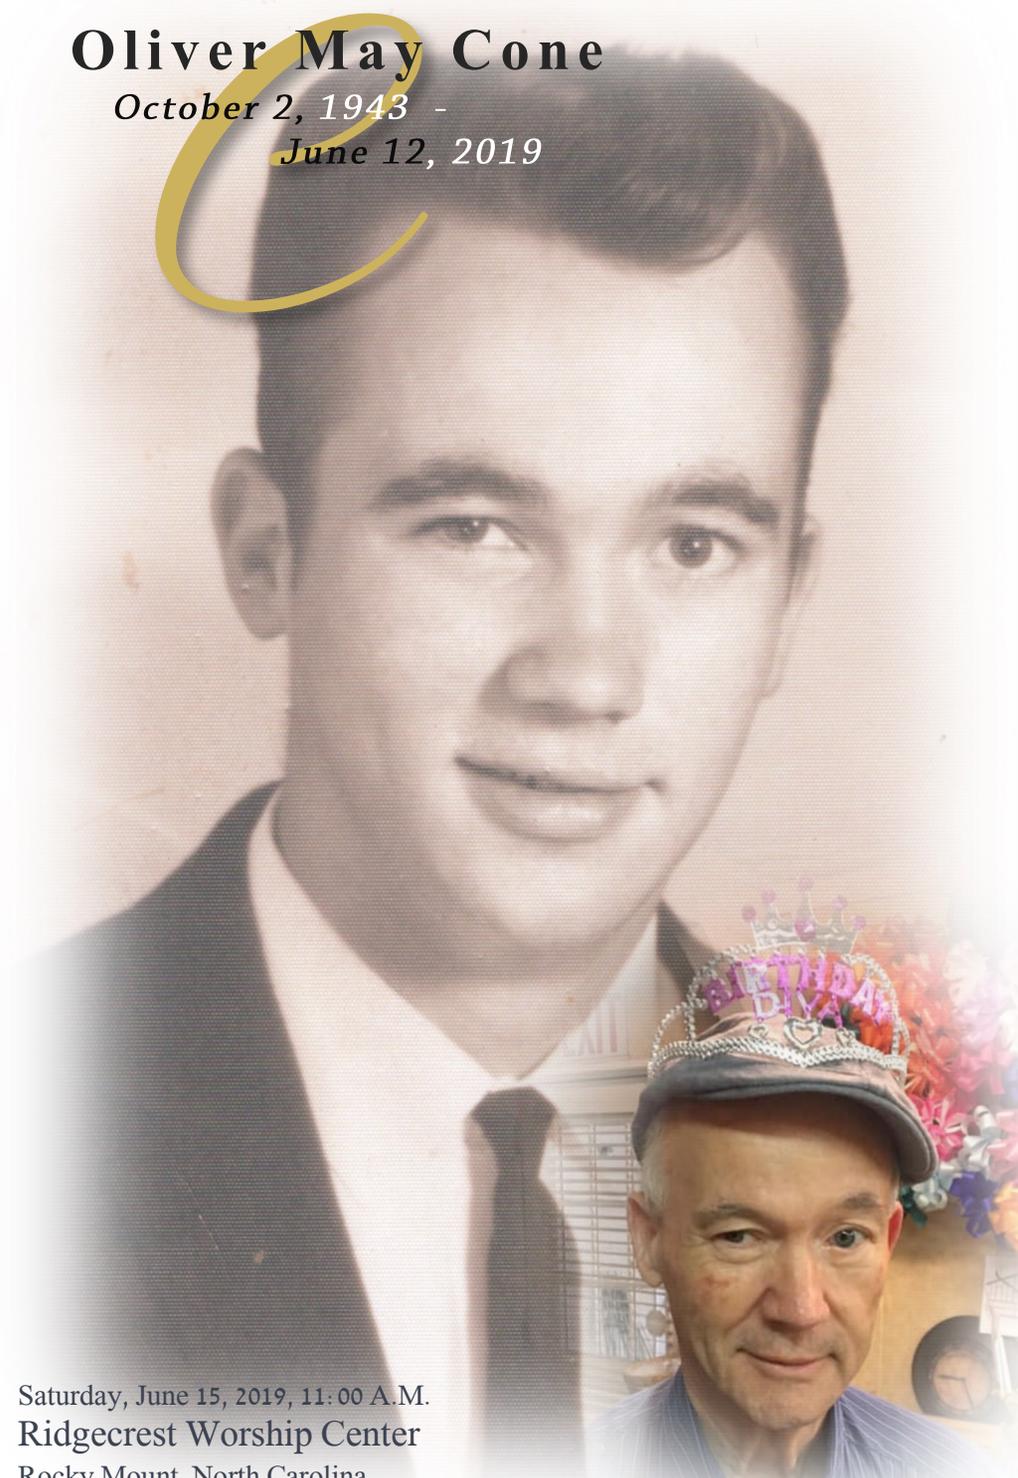

Because while you live, I shall not die.

John 14:2

In those sweet moments after 12:00 noon on Wednesday, June 12, 2019, our beloved Oliver claimed that victory with his Savior for which he had been long ready and eagerly awaiting.

Oliver's journey began in Nash County on October 2nd, 1943 as a son born to Vester and Zettie Cone. His parents were charter members of South Rocky Mount Church of God (later Ridgecrest Worship Center) where Oliver attended all his life and grew in his love for his Lord. He faithfully and joyfully served in various capacities, including as choir director, deacon, and church clerk.

With a true servant's heart, he understood the importance of caring for others and often prepared benevolence meals for families experiencing a loss and mowed lawns for widows. Oliver was a friend and neighbor to everyone. He loved making us smile and did so often with his silly antics and his love for fun. He was richly blessed, highly favored and a precious child of the one, true King. He knew it and he wanted to make sure everyone else knew it too.

Oliver was preceded in death by his wife, Juanita "Teeny" Cone brother, Thomas Cone; and sister, Adjadine Christenbury. He leaves a lifetime of treasured memories for his son, Robbie Cone and wife, Tracy of Rocky Mount; grandchildren, Haley and Logan; brothers, Ray Cone and his wife, Pat, and E. Wayne Cone; sisters, Lucille Narron and Lyvonne Kirkman; and sister-in-law, Elizabeth Cone. He will also be greatly missed by his beloved friend, Sue Avery and his Drummond's Florist family; extended family, Arnold and Sharon Manning; his best friend, Evelyn Joyner; his church family at Ridgecrest Worship Center; along with a host of loving nieces, nephews, cousins and other friends and relatives.
