Obituary

Benyam Andebrhan, 66, passed away surrounded by loved ones, leaving behind a legacy of warmth, laughter, and strength. Born on January 1, 1960, in Asmara, Eritrea, to Elleta T-Berhane and Pastor Andebrhan Manna. He was the fourth of seven siblings and cherished his role within a large and close-knit family. As a young adult, Benyam's journey took him from Eritrea to Beirut and later to Walla Walla, Washington, before he finally settled in beautiful Portland, Oregon. There, he built a life filled with love and laughter alongside his beloved wife, Saba Yohanes.

Benyam was a kindhearted and loving husband, a protective and caring brother, and a proud uncle to his many nephews and nieces. He was known for his gentle spirit, his humor, and his unwavering commitment to family. Benyam's smile! His smile was the most special gift to those he shared it with; his laughter could fill a room and instantly brought the most genuine joy to those nearby. Being with Benyam was to be in the presence of comfort; the deep care he had for those he loved will be deeply missed by all who were fortunate enough to know him. Though he is no longer with us, Benyam's memory will continue to live on in the stories shared, the many jokes we all told with him, and the spirit of joy his soul carried. Benyam, our dearest, your spirit will never leave us.
