

Such a Wonderful Mother

by Leah Bushman

*It just seems to me that God our creator
intended you to be sure it's you I proudly own.*

Oh that I had always shown,

You're that wonderful Mother to me.

When I see all these furrows that wrinkle your brow.

How I long to erase the causes of them now.

You who banished my sorrow and soothed away my pain.

You're that wonderful mother to me.

There's no words to express all my longings when I think of the days that have been.

For the days that you made me so happy and free, still cling in my child memory.

Such a wonderful mother.

*It just seems to me that God our creator
intended you to be. Sure it's you I proudly own.*

*Oh that I had always shown,
you're that wonderful mother to me.*
