A Letter To My Davis

I knew I had a purpose, because Jah sent me you, after doctors said you were not possible.

You brought me to life, hearing your heartbeat the first time. All the heartache I knew, I wouldn't allow you to know, I'd fight for you, protect you at all cost. You were MINE!

I knew the strength you had from your first kick of life. I knew the worry you'd bring us from the multiple false labors, you were never patient, everything on Davis.

I knew the laughter you'd bring when your father swore you gave him the middle finger from an incubator. You did, but I wouldn't admit it until now, I always got your back!

I knew you'd be amazing because you came in this world before time, breathing fine and doing your own thing, slowing you down was never an option.

Thank you for choosing me, I know you wouldn't leave me, your brother and definitely not Ary and Ayd, we got them. I know all you ever wanted, was to make them happy, I'll see it through.

I only created two perfect things in this world and you were the first...YOU Were Always Enough for Me!!

Obituary

Antwan Dupree Davis was born on December 15, 1991 in Cincinnati, Ohio, to Dwayne "Tony" Davis and Novia Joetta Jackson. Growing up, Antwan played soccer, football, track, basketball and semi-pro boxing. He enjoyed hanging with his children, brother, cousins, and with his friends. In his down time he would play video games. In 2007 Antwan attended the Marine JROTC program during our time in Georgia. In 2011 Antwan graduated from North College Hill High School. As a young man, Antwan gave his life to Christ and was baptized at Saving Grace Community Church.

Antwan was quiet as a kid, but once he came out his shell, he was the life of the party. For 10 years it was just him and his mother, so they were very close, growing up together. When his brother came along, he wasn't happy at first, but after toughening him up like big brothers do, they had an unbreakable bond, a secret handshake and all. He never liked big crowds, so much so that he made a point to have a small circle of friends. He maintained a close bond with best friends Dame and Dre. The three of them had kids around the same time soon after high school and made a point to have their kids be a part of each other's lives. In 2014, Antwan became a first time father of twins, a baby girl Aryanna and a baby boy Ayden. Aryanna and Ayden were his pride and joy, he always told them how much he loved, and cherish them and to always put family first. What made him the happiest was the smiles he put on their faces and all the love they showered him with.

Those who knew Antwan, knew, he enjoyed being around his family, close friends and having fun. He was known for his good manners and big smile. It was the biggest thing you saw about him. He liked to see others happy, making others laugh and was very encouraging.

Antwan departed this life on Wednesday, February 10, 2021, although too soon, we feel comfort knowing he was reunited with his great grandmother, Evelyn L. Ellison, Great Grandfather David Jones, Grandmothers Sandra M. White and Gloria J. Davis, grandfather Joseph Griffin Sr, Great Aunts Gloria L. Hayes and Annastisia Forte and Uncle Daniel White.

Although Antwan is no longer with us, his spirit of love and fun will remain with his mother, Novia Jackson (Jaquon) and father Dwayne "Tony" Davis (Tricia), his children Aryanna and Ayden Green, siblings, Tra'Zon "Joe" White, D'Juan Davis, De'shawn Davis, D'Anthony Davis, D'Arian Davis and Andreus "Dre" Cephas, his "DD" Jennifer Garner (Lanise), and G'Ma Annette Garner, Aunts: Yolandra; Cassandra (Zurie); Joy (Terrance), Evelyn, Edwina (Ralph), Uncles Joseph "Junebug" (Pam), Theodore "Ted" (Georgia), Godmother Vivian "Pie" and a host of family and friends.
