Marie Rose Charlette was born Saturday, December 3, 1938 at Pukatawagan, Manitoba to Margaret (Bighetty) and Baptiste Dumas. She grew up on the trapline and was a traditional cook who lived off the land.

Marie Rose was a jolly old lady who enjoyed the gifts of the earth. She enjoyed joking around with family and friends. She loved story telling and enjoyed nature, outdoors, especially camping and berry picking. She was gifted in picking and making native medicine. She loved fishing, smoking fish and preparing the many different types of wild meat.

Marie Rose took great pride in her beadwork that was sewed onto many traditional hide jackets, mukluks and gauntlets over the years. She was proud of her Cree heritage and spoke the language proudly and ensured it was carried on for future generations.

Marie Rose was proud of the family she raised and was a mother figure to many people over lifetime. She was the matriarch of the Charlette family. She was strong in her Catholic faith and shared her spiritual wisdom with others.
