

The Dash Between
by Linda Ellis

There are two important dates around the life that we live that reflect the time we're given to laugh, to love, to live.
And between the date when we arrive and the date we go away, there exists a horizontal line that captures every single day.
Because these days we're living seem to vanish in a flash, we need to make the most of that special little dash.
We are blessed with opportunities as we tread the grounds of earth to build the loving legacy our own dash will be worth.
To focus on what matters, not on possessions owned or bought, and smile every chance we get,
and love with all we've got.
To appreciate the here and now as each moment will unfold because we're never told beforehand how much time our dash will hold So, if you need to make some changes, let this be the day you start to make a difference with your life, show the love that's in your heart.
For how you spend this life will someday be defined by everything that is remembered in the dash you leave behind.

Obituary

Gregory Peter Kissel, 79, of Charlotte NC passed away on Thursday May 29, 2026.

He was survived by his daughter, Jamie Kissel, and grandchildren Liam Parsons and Mackenzie Parsons. Also, his stepchildren Regina Felling and Abraham Saavedra and grand fur babies, Ginger and Abby.

Greg kissel was a marine, a father and a best friend. He was a wonderful provider and achieved many awards in his successful career as an electrical engineer and worked many years at the Mantissa Corporation. From his early days of traveling, deep ocean surveying, to his days of recipe perfecting and vacationing with his family he always brought a ray of sunshine with him. He was a quiet man, but also knew how to light up a room with his life stories and ridiculous jokes. He was a caring thoughtful and a gracious soul who was loved by all those who had the privilege to have met him and will be deeply missed.
