LIFE Reflections

There are some lives that cannot be measured simply by the number of years lived, but by the people loved, the lives touched, the service given, and the memories left behind. For ninety-two years, Mamie Louise Wright Fludd lived a life rooted in faith, family, hard work, community, and love.

Mamie Louise Wright Fludd was born on June 27, 1934, to Catherine Wright. She was lovingly reared in the home of her grandparents, Minnie and Ned Wright, in Moncks Corner, South Carolina. It was there that she developed the strength, determination, and caring spirit that would remain with her throughout her life. Mamie was united in marriage to Leroy Fludd.

Mamie was a hardworking woman who believed in doing whatever was necessary to care for her family and serve others. During her working years, she performed domestic work and was also employed by Berkeley County Hospital. However, many people throughout Moncks Corner and the surrounding areas came to know her through two roles that became especially meaningful parts of her life.

For more than thirty years, Mamie was a devoted Avon representative. To many, she was much more than the woman who delivered Avon products. She often shared conversations, laughter, friendship, and fellowship with her customers.

Mamie was also widely known for her loving care of babies and young children. For more than thirty years, families entrusted their little ones to her care. Through the years, she nurtured, comforted, watched over, and loved many children, leaving a lasting impression on generations of families.

Faith was an important foundation in Mamie’s life. She was a lifelong member of Nazareth Reformed Episcopal Church, where she faithfully served on the Usher Board for many years. She took pride in serving in the house of the Lord and continued her faithful service until declining health would no longer allow her to do so.

Mamie was also an integral part of the West End community and was a lifelong resident there until her health began to fail. She was one of those familiar neighborhood figures whose presence became woven into the life of the community. For many years, she could often be seen in the mornings walking along the road and picking up cans. It became one of the many familiar sights that neighbors came to associate with her.

During the final four years of her life, Mamie was blessed to receive exceptional and loving care from her daughter, Margie, in Cross, South Carolina. That season of her life was marked by devotion, tenderness, and family care.

Mamie found great joy in the simple things. She had a special love for plants, and anyone who visited her home could easily see it. Her porch and yard were filled with plants that she cared for and enjoyed. Her porch itself was one of her favorite places. She loved sitting outside, watching the neighborhood, enjoying the fresh air, and greeting those who passed by.

She enjoyed doing a little sewing, and she had a true appreciation for jewelry. Mamie also took pride in her appearance and was especially known for her beautifully kept fingernails. They became one of her signature touches and something many people fondly remember about her.

Music brought Mamie great happiness. She loved listening to DJ Frankie “The Big Bopper” and especially enjoyed gospel music. Among her favorite gospel artists and groups were Tommy Ellison and the Singing Stars, The Mighty Clouds of Joy, and Slim and the Supreme Angels. The music she loved spoke to her faith, her spirit, and the joy she carried within her.

Her legacy can be found in the babies she held.

Mamie’s life was filled with ordinary moments that became extraordinary memories. It can be found in the Avon customers who waited for her visits. It can be found in the church members she greeted as an usher. It can be found in the West End neighbors who saw her walking the road or sitting on her porch. It can be found in the plants she lovingly tended, the jewelry she enjoyed wearing, the beautiful nails she took pride in, and the gospel music that filled her home. Most of all, her legacy lives in her family.

Mamie peacefully transitioned into eternal life with the Lord on Tuesday, September 29, 2026.

Mamie was preceded in death by her parents; grandparents; husband, Leroy Fludd; sisters, Edna and Louise Smiley; brother, James Wright; son-in-law, Peter Wright; and grandson, Petric Wright.

She leaves to cherish her memory her beloved children, Margie Wright; Herman Fludd (Mattie); Carolyn Larkin (Isaac); Anthony Fludd; Haddrick Flood (Jasmine); and Clifton Fludd (Vickie). fourteen grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren; her brother, Samuel Bryant; her adopted family Shirley Snider; Kim Snider Whitaker (Gregory); and Angelo Snider (Tracee); and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, other relatives, church family, neighbors, former Avon customers, families whose children she cared for, and dear friends.

The family would also like to thank Hospice Heartland Hospice, SC House Calls and especially her caretaker Kayla Hughey whom she was very fond of.

Ninety-two years is a remarkable blessing.
Ninety-two years of family.
Ninety-two years of service.
Ninety-two years of faith.
Ninety-two years of work.
Ninety-two years of memories.
Ninety-two years of leaving a mark on the hearts of others.

Those who knew Mamie will remember different pieces of her life. Some will remember Mrs. Mamie, the faithful church usher. Some will remember their Avon lady. Some will remember the woman who cared for them or their children. Some will remember their West End neighbor. Some will remember her beautiful plants, her jewelry, her nails, her porch, and the gospel music she loved.

But together, all of those memories tell the story of one remarkable woman.

A porch may now feel quieter. A gospel song may suddenly bring tears. A beautiful plant may bring back a memory. Someone may see a bottle of Avon perfume or a perfectly polished set of fingernails and smile. And in those moments, Mamie will still be near.

For while a beautiful life may come to an earthly close, a life of love, faith, service, and family never truly ends. It continues in the stories that are told, the traditions that remain, and the hearts of those who were blessed to know her.

Mamie Louise Wright Fludd lived ninety-two years, and she lived them well. Her work is finished. Her earthly journey is complete. Her legacy remains. And she will forever be remembered with love.
