

In Loving Memory

The Heart That Stayed Kind

I lived in a world that was often unkind,
With rules that I couldn't quite keep.
I saw the sharp looks and the wonders behind,
And sometimes that mountain felt steep.
They saw something missing, they saw I was slow,
And judged by the things they really didn't know.
But they missed the one thing I wanted to share -
That I loved you all and I always did Care.
And now I am here where every question is clear,
And no one is hurried or blind.
So remember me not for the struggles I faced,
Or the ways that the world was unkind.
Please remember the light that they could not erase,
And the love that continues to shine.
