To my Mother, My Friend

The Lord called for you to come home, he gave you your wings. You lived a long life, doing so much for so many. Now it's time for US to do for YOU. You always said "decent and in order". I heard you and "any problems or confusion take it to the Lord. He'll help. He has the last word". You said if he wanted you, you were ready. And he came, didn't let you suffer, he put you to sleep. Never forget your words decent and in order. I still have a lot to learn. But will always hear your words "take it to the lord".

Your Daughter,
Gwendolyn "Gugie" Propst (7-2-2026)

A close-up photograph of white roses and baby's breath flowers against a white background. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with delicate petals visible. The baby's breath consists of many small, star-shaped white flowers on thin green stems. The overall composition is soft and romantic.

A vibrant member of her community, Geneva often spent her days at the Reading Terminal Market, where she collected donated food to share with those in need. Her selflessness and commitment to helping the less fortunate exemplified her belief in community and compassion. Whether at work, church, or home, she illuminated every space with her infectious spirit.

Geneva was preceded in death by: Annie Bowers, Mother; William Propst, Father; Douglas Allen Propst and all of her siblings, a host of nieces and nephews. Submitted with Love.
