OBITUARY

Susan Louise Sidney Archer grew up in a lively and loving household alongside her six siblings, as the third child of Sidney and Mary Jones. Her childhood was filled with simple joys—riding her bike, visiting her grandmother, and dancing to the latest records. She carried that same warmth and vibrant spirit throughout her life.

She graduated from White Plains High School in 1966 and soon began building a life rooted in determination and independence. She worked while attending Westchester Community College on a scholarship from Union Carbide and began her career as a counselor with the Westchester Department of Social Services. During this time, she also worked part-time at “Kitche Clothing,” where she enjoyed fashion and expressing her personal style.

In 1974, she married and moved to Washington State with her husband, Louis Archer, who served in the United States Air Force. While there, she worked as an administrative assistant at Good Samaritan Hospital in Puyallup, Washington. In 1978, she returned to New York with her daughters, Aminah and Aisha, devoted to creating a loving and stable home for her family.

Back in White Plains, she worked at Saint Agnes Hospital in the administration department. She later joined Greenburgh Central School District #7 at Woodlands High School, where she managed the school’s computer department for many years. Her dedication and strong work ethic led her to TBS Worldwide Shipping, where she served as an IT Manager from 2002 to 2011, marking a highpoint in her professional life.

Above all, Susan was a woman of love, strength, and unwavering devotion to her family. She is survived by her beloved husband, Louis Archer, with whom she shared 52 years of marriage; her daughters, Aminah Perkins of Atlanta, GA, Aisha Archer of Philadelphia, PA; and Andre Williamson of White Plains, NY whom she helped raise. He affectionately called her “Mama Sue”, her sister, Anne Hillard, one niece, seven nephews, and a host of extended family and loved ones who will forever cherish her memory. Susan was predeceased by her beloved parents, Sidney Jones, Sr. and Mary Jones, and her siblings, Stanley Jones, Frances Sowell, Mary Ellen Sanders, Jane Outlar, Sidney Jones, Jr.

Susan’s legacy lives on in the love she gave and the lives she touched.
